To whom it may concern:

I first became aware of Simon Dye's website expertise about 6 years ago through the Chartered Institute of Marketing.

Having watched and learnt from his online knowledge I asked him a couple of years ago to build a new website for me and also to search engine optimise an existing website.

As a result, my websites regularly appear at the top of or on the front page of all the leading search engines like Google, Yahoo, MSN, Lycos and AOL. Which generates a considerable of traffic for my business.

I have found Simon Dye to act in a professional and helpful manner throughout who frequently proactively makes suggestions to further improve my websites and can recommend his services to anyone looking to build and develop an ecommerce presence.
